AFTERCARE

After Your Microcurrent Facial

No downtime. The lifted, toned look is temporary and builds with regular sessions, so here's how to get the most from each one.

YOUR LOGO

WHEN	WHAT'S NORMAL	DO	AVOID
Right after	A lifted, refreshed look. Light pinkness or a faint tingle that fades quickly.	Keep the products I applied. Makeup is fine. Drink plenty of water.	Heavy rubbing or massage tools on your face for the rest of the day.
First 24 hours	Some people feel mildly tired or have a light headache.	Stay hydrated and rest if you need to. Gentle cleanser, moisturizer, SPF 30+.	Strong exfoliants or new active products. Booking injectables before asking me.
Between sessions	The effect softens over a few days; each session tends to hold a little longer.	Keep your series on schedule. Tell me about new implants, injectables or pregnancy.	Long gaps early in the series, which slow your progress.
After the series	Results gradually fade without upkeep.	Maintenance about every [2–4] weeks. SPF every day.	Using a home microcurrent device without asking me first.

Hydrate
Water before and after helps you feel your best.

Stay on schedule
Results build with steady sessions.

Keep me posted
New implants, injectables or pregnancy change your plan.

SPF daily
Broad-spectrum 30+, rain or shine.

CALL ME RIGHT AWAY IF YOU NOTICE

- Redness, a rash or itching that lasts more than a day
- Twitching, numbness or weakness in your face
- A headache that lasts or keeps coming back
- Any change near a filler or injectable area

Chest pain, a seizure, trouble breathing, or swelling of the face or throat: call 911.

SESSION # OF SERIES _____

YOUR NEXT SESSION _____

MAINTENANCE FROM _____