WHAT IT IS
Single-needle or fine-line work and small designs, often under [2] inches, with fine detail.

WHAT TO EXPECT
Usually [30–90] minutes. Lines go in slowly and with a light hand to help keep them crisp.

HOW IT AGES
Fine lines soften, blur and fade over the years more than bold work. A touch-up is often needed.

TODAY'S TATTOO ☐ Single needle ☐ Fine line ☐ Micro ☐ Script ☐ Dotwork ☐ Touch-up booked

POSSIBLE RISKS AND SIDE EFFECTS

- Blowout: ink spreading into a blur that can't be undone
- Patchy or broken lines after healing
- Tiny details merging together over time
- Allergy to ink, or infection, as with any tattoo
- Lines softening, blurring or spreading as skin ages
- Faster fading on hands, fingers, feet and ribs
- Quick fading if the tattoo gets too much sun
- Rare burning or tingling during an MRI scan

Quick health and skin check

- Pregnant or breastfeeding
- Immune suppression or chemo
- Accutane in last [6–12] months
- Moles in the design area
- Blood thinners or bleeding disorder
- Thin or sun-damaged skin
- Sunburn, tan or rash at the site
- Allergy: latex, ink or ointment
- Diabetes or slow healing
- Keloid or raised scars
- Eczema or psoriasis
- Heart condition or epilepsy

Size and placement. Very small text and detail blur together as skin ages. Your artist may suggest a larger size or a spot that holds fine work better.

☐ Going with the suggested size
☐ Keeping my size; I accept the risk

Please initial each statement

	Initials
I've shared my full health and medication history, including any numbing product I applied today.
I understand fine lines can blur, spread and fade over time, and crisp healed lines aren't guaranteed.
I approved the final design, size and placement, and checked all spelling, names, dates and numbers.
A touch-up is often needed. It's done no sooner than [4–6] weeks and free within [1–3] months, per policy.
Hands, fingers, feet and ribs fade faster and may be excluded from free touch-ups.
I'll care for it gently with a thin layer of ointment, keep it out of the sun, then use SPF 30+ once healed.
Ink brand, color and lot # are logged on my session record so I can be contacted if an ink is recalled.
Photos for my record are OK; social media only with my separate release. Fees follow studio policy.

By signing, I confirm I am 18 or older with valid photo ID (copy kept on file), am not under the influence of alcohol or drugs, have read this form, had my questions answered, and consent to this fine line tattoo.
