AFTERCARE

Caring for Your Hair Color

The first few days lock in your color. After that, a few gentle habits keep it rich, shiny and true to tone until your next visit.

YOUR LOGO

WHEN	WHAT'S NORMAL	DO	AVOID
First 72 hours color settles	A little color in the rinse water or on your pillowcase. Any hairline staining fades in a day or two.	Wait [48–72] hours before your first shampoo. If you need to wet your hair, rinse with cool water only.	Shampoo, hot showers, swimming, saunas, heavy sweat, and clarifying or dandruff shampoos.
Weeks 1–2 settling in	Your color looks its richest. Red and copper tones soften a little first; that's normal.	Sulfate-free, color-safe shampoo and conditioner. Wash 2 to 3 times a week in cool water.	Hot tools without heat protectant, chlorine pools, and long hours in the sun without a hat or UV spray.
Weeks 4–8 refresh time	Roots and gray start to show. Demi color and gloss fade; ends may look lighter or warmer.	Book your root touch-up every [4–8] weeks and a gloss or toner refresh every [4–6] weeks.	Box dye or home color between visits. It builds up and can mean a longer, costly correction.
Ongoing keep it healthy	Gentle fading from sun, water and heat over time. Ends get drier and need trims.	Trim every [8–12] weeks. Tell me about new medications, allergies or health changes.	Henna, "progressive" or metallic dyes; they can react badly with salon color.

GOOD TO KNOW

- Hard water and chlorine dull color; a shower filter helps
- Root spray or powder can blend gray between visits
- A weekly hydrating mask keeps ends soft and shiny
- Wet hair and add leave-in before you swim
- Dry shampoo stretches the time between washes
- Use the color-depositing products I recommend

Wait to wash
[48–72] hours before your first shampoo.

Cool water
Hot water opens the cuticle and fades color.

Color-safe
Sulfate-free shampoo and conditioner only.

Protect
Heat protectant and UV spray, every time.
